Meet the Doctors

Dr. Peter was in school at Life University, School of Medicine when he suffered a severe lower back injury with two herniated discs and a fractured spine. Surgery was not an option, so he sought out the best chiropractors and recovered with their help. It was this journey that exposed Dr. Peter to advanced techniques performed by only a small fraction of chiropractors. He takes great pride in bringing innovative approaches like these to the most challenging of injuries. Dr. Barbara worked at a chiropractic office while attending St. John's University to become a pediatrician. She had suffered from debilitating migraines her whole life, but they disappeared after she was examined and treated by the chiropractor. This life-changing experience led Dr. Barbara to become a chiropractor and devote her career to helping patients lead pain-free lives.
